pondent of the Omaha Bee, will also be here.

TONIGHT'S MASS MEETING.

The one big lateral feature of the convention is the mass meeting to be held at the armory tonight, and the big feature of the meeting will be the address on "McKinley: a Type of Republicanism," by Senator John M. Thurston, of Nebraska. No man is better able to handle this subject than Senator Thurston. He is one of America's greatest political orators, and few were closer than he to the martyred president. Prominent men from Philadelphia are coming here especially to hear Senator Thurston's speech, believing that the subject and the occasion will draw from him an effort that will be counted his masterpiece.

The meeting will be opened with a selection by Bauer's band and an invocation by Rev. Robert F. Y. Pierce, D. D., pastor of the Penn Avenue Baptist church.

Attorney M. W. Lowry, chairman of the general committee, will make the opening address, after which he will introduce in turn the speakers of the evening, President Moore, of the State league; Senator Thurston, Hon. Joseph M. Huston and Senator Boies Penrose.

The speeches will be interspersed with music by Bauer's band, the William Connell Glee club and the North End Glee club.

SEATS FOR DELEGATES.

Seating accommodations have been arranged for 10,000. The only seats reserved will be those assigned to the delegates, directly in front of the platform.

It has been decided that the speaker's platform will be located at the Jefferson avenue end of the building, close up to the balcony. At the rear of the platform will be erected a wall of boards, covered with canvass and bunting, which will be flush with the front of the balcony. This is intended to act as a sounding board. Other locations for the platform were advised, but tests as to acoustics, proved that this was the best place.

The convention on Wednesday will open at 10 o'clock in the Lyceum, with an invocation by Rev. James McLeod, D. D. An address of welcome will be delivered by Recorder W. L. Connell, and responded to by First Vice President J. Martin Rommel, of Philadelphia. There will also be addresses by Congressman Jack Robinson, Major Everett Warren and Hon. Arch Mackrell, former state presidents. It had not been decided last night, whether or not two sessions would be held.

President Moore has appointed P. Silas Walter as reading clerk, to assist Recording Secretary George J. Llewellyn, of Wilkes-Barre.

It is expected that there will be a number of lively contests for several of the offices, particularly for the one of the seven vice presidents usually accorded the colored Republicans. Philadelphia has three candidates for the place and all are fighting hard.

FLEITZ FOR PRESIDENT.

It is as good as settled that tomorrow's convention will elect Deputy Attorney General Frederic W. Fleitz as state president, to succeed J. Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia. Mr. Fleitz did not seek the nomination and had no thought of being a candidate until leaders of the league solicited him to enter the lists. After some hesitation he agreed that in case the league was desirous of honoring Scranton by giving her the presidency, and his name was acceptable to his fellow local Republicans, he would be pleased to have the honor.

The name of Mr. Fleitz was not under consideration forty-eight hours before every Republican club in Lackawanna county had passed resolutions endorsing him. It was left to Lackawanna to name a candidate and Lackawanna unanimously picked up Mr. Fleitz as the peculiarly well-fitted man for the place.

In this last-mentioned respect, Lackawanna displayed rare judgment, for Mr. Fleitz, it is safe to say, can call by name more representative Republicans in Pennsylvania than any other man in the commonwealth, and among these same representative Republicans no young man of the party is regarded with more esteem.

Mr. Fleitz came to Scranton eleven years ago, at the age of twenty-four. In that time he has advanced himself, step by step, until today he occupies a position in state politics that any young man may well envy.

Before he was twenty-one years of age, he was county chairman of Tioga, his native county. That same year he served as secretary of the appropriations committee; in 1889 and 1891 he was transcribing clerk; in 1893 he was journal clerk; in 1897, reading clerk, and in 1899 he advanced to his present position, deputy state attorney general. He served as secretary of the Lackawanna county committee in 1892, and was a state delegate at the conventions which nominated Delamater and Stone.

In 1897 he went to Detroit as a Lackawanna delegate to the national convention of the League of Republican clubs. On Monday, he was put forward as a candidate for national president against Colonel Crawford, of Kentucky. On Wednesday, when the 1,876 votes were counted, Mr. Fleitz was found to have come within seventeen votes of being elected.

HISTORY OF LEAGUE.

The Pennsylvania State League of Republican clubs was organized as an auxiliary to the Republican organization fourteen years ago. The first president was Edwin S. Stuart, who afterwards became mayor of the city of Philadelphia. Mr. Stuart served several terms, when a contest arose between John Dalzell, of Pittsburg, and John B. Robinson, of Delaware county, for the succession. At that time the presidency of the State League was regarded as the stepping stone to certain higher honors.

The city selected for the convention at the time of this contest was the city of Scranton, to which the league is going this year. No more exciting convention, perhaps, was ever held in the state of Pennsylvania. Clubs were organized in every section of the commonwealth, and large amounts of money were spent for transportation and entertainment. The enthusiasm at the time was intense. Robinson finally won the battle.

After serving two terms, Mr. Robinson, who had become a congressman, was succeeded by Major Everett Warren, of this city. Major Warren served two years and was succeeded in the city of Erie by Isador Sobel, who became postmaster. Mr. Sobel served two terms, being succeeded at Pittsburg by Archbald Mackrell, a prominent city official of that place. Interest in the league during the last two or three years has not been so great as previously, owing to a feeling on the part of the regular organization that the league was a rival for public place.

At Harrisburg, where Judge Mackrell gave up the charge to J. Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia, the league had probably reached the ebb tide of its existence. During the first year of Mr. Moore's administration, however, active and energetic measures were adopted, which again brought the league into prominence throughout the state. The national convention which nominated William McKinley for president for a second term, was held in the city of Philadelphia, and the State League promptly injected itself into the campaign, organizing clubs all over the state, centralizing those of Philadelphia into the Allied Republican clubs, of that city.

INDUSTRIAL JOTTINGS.

Officers of Mine Workers Have Gone to New York to Confer with the Operators.

President T. D. Nichols, of District No. 1, of the United Mine Workers of America, left yesterday morning for New York, where he joined National President John Mitchell and District Presidents Duffy and Fahey.

At the convention of the delegates representing the entire anthracite field, held in Hazleton during the latter part of August, President Mitchell and the three district presidents were authorized to arrange a conference with those in control of the coal interests, with the view of bringing about the adjustment of certain grievances before the expiration, April 1 next, of the agreement now in force between miner and operator.

It is the hope of the four miner representatives to obtain the promise for a joint conference, to be held some time in March.

Doubts have been expressed as to whether the coal operators would recognize President Mitchell and his associates' authority as representatives of the miners. Some time ago letters were sent out from mine workers' headquarters, asking if the operators would receive the four presidents. President Mitchell has never given out whether replies were received or not, and President Nichols, when asked before his departure, frankly stated that he didn't know. This is one of the things that has caused the apprehension.

According to the speeches made by President Mitchell during the past few weeks at many mass meetings of miners, the miners will demand recognition of the union, an eight-hour day, settlement of the dockage disputes and the redress of other smaller grievances.

CONFERENCE OVER.

Atlantic States German Baptists Adjourned After Deicding to Meet Next Year At Wilmington, Del.

The annual conference of the Atlantic states conference of German Baptists, which had been in session in the First German Baptist church since last Thursday, was brought to a close with a special service last night.

The devotional service yesterday morning was led by Rev. Mr. Becker, of Albany, and was followed by a general discussion of the sermon delivered on Sunday on the divinity of Christ. The feature of the morning session was a paper by Rev. Mr. Pistor, of Boston, on "Original Sin."

In the afternoon reports were presented by the missionaries having charge of the work of the Ellis Island emigrant station and at the Home for Emigrant Girls in New York city. It was decided to hold next years convention at Wilmington, Delaware, at a date to be fixed later.

A farewell sermon was preached last night by Rev. J. C. Baum, of Wilmington, Delaware. This was followed by a love feast or testimony meeting which lasted until long past 10 o'clock and during which nearly every delegate present had a few words to say.

The service was prolonged to such an extent that the visiting clergymen were obliged to make a wild scramble for their hotels at its conclusion in order to be ready to take the 11.35 train for the west. They are going to visit the Pan-American exposition and to later attend the tri-ennial international conference to be held in a few days at Berlin, Ontario.

Resolutions of Veterans' Union.

The following resolutions were adopted by Colonel Oakford regiment, No. 4, Union Veterans' Union, at their meeting in Guernsey hall Monday evening, Sept. 23, 1901:

Whereas, The sad and untimely death of our beloved president, caused by the hand of a cowardly assassin, and thereby striking a blow at the government of this free country, should call forth the condemnation of all. Be it, therefore,

Resolved, That in common with all true and loyal people we mourn the untimely and tragic death of our president, and denounce in the severest terms all organization inimical to free government and ask as citizens that proper legislation be enacted whereby liberty of speech and the rights of assembly be defined and regulated, and that the alien doctrine of anarchy and all other doctrines akin to it be suppressed and its supporters banished and excluded from the United States and its territories forever.

Resolutions of Mine Workers.

At a regular meeting of Local No. 1052, of the United Mine Workers of America, a resolution passed whereby a committee was appointed to draw condolences for our martyred president, William McKinley. They reported the following, which were adopted:

We, the members of the above local, censure all acts of violence toward the chosen officers of our government. We condemn this as the most cowardly act in the annals of our history. This government is a government of the people and for the people, therefore the majority should rule, especially when discretion was so plainly shown as in the closing of our late president.

We especially condemn all anarchists and hope that the government will be strictly on the lookout that no more will have entrance into our country. We wish to express our deepest sympathy with Mrs. McKinley in her sudden bereavement.

Heptasophs Express Their Grief.

At a meeting of Scranton conclave, No. 117, Improved Order of Heptasophs, held at Rauh's hall last evening the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, In the course of human events, for the third time in the history of our country, the president of the United States has been assassinated, to the unspeakable grief and regret of all civilized nations, but especially of our own, inflicting upon us, in a most signal manner, by so desperately cruel an act, an irreparable loss in the death of our beloved president, William McKinley, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we execrate the name of the dastardly anarchistic assassin of President McKinley, and that we give it no mention in this connection, believing as we do that it should be consigned to well merited oblivion, thereby removing one of the possible incitements to the commission of such foul deeds.

Resolved, That it is high time the government should legislate along lines of a greater safety of its officers, making an attack upon any of them, or even a threat to attack or counseling, aiding or abetting an attack, high treason, punishable with death, and also defining freedom of speech, and of the press, setting bounds therefor, so that liberty may not run into license.

Resolved, That we extend our heartiest sympathy to Mrs. McKinley in her sad bereavement, assuring her that while our grief cannot be so poignant as her's, yet it is sincere, and that the country and the world sorrow with her in the loss of her devoted husband, who, to us, was a model statesman, pure in public and in private life; a model man in every station, kind, considerate, generous, affectionate and appreciative; gentle, yet firm and far-seeing; one whose whole course in life has placed his name high among "the few immortal names that were not born to die."

Resolved, That a copy be sent to Mrs. McKinley, and that a copy be submitted to the local newspapers for publication.

J. Elliot Ross, A. B. Rauh, Jr. James Stein, Committee.

Why biscuit get stale

It's as simple as A B C. The atmosphere contains moisture, which is an enemy to crackers and biscuit. Now you see why biscuit or crackers exposed to the air in a box or barrel go stale and grow musty. To overcome this an inventor created the In-er-seal Patent Package, an ingenious combination of specially prepared cardboard and paper so peculiarly folded and securely sealed that it keeps out moisture and all kinds of badness. The In-er-seal Patent Package is used and controlled exclusively by the National Biscuit Company to keep their products fresh and good.

When you order Soda, Milk, Graham, Oatmeal, Saltine and Butter Thin Biscuit, Banquet and Vanilla Wafers, Ginger Snaps, and Sultana Fruit, don't forget to ask for the kind that come in the In-er-seal Patent Package.

The In-er-seal Patent Package is identified by this Trade Mark on each end.
